if you experienced a brief emotional moment
like joy or awe,

carve a small cut in the area of the raised ground floor

if you experienced a brief rational moment like reflecting on growing trees, carve a small cut in the area of the first floor

if you experienced a brief emotional moment which might not have happened without a prior rational moment, carve a small cut in the area of the second floor

notes:
- its not about cars
- its not about good or bad
- reason is not better than emotion
- its about structure
- this structure is not better than other ones
- structure can help to find orientation
- orientation can be reassuring, can help decide
- this wooden box is nothing more than a materialistic tool, like a rock, a mobile phone, the concept of mathematics
